The Forest Feast Paper Placemats: 40 Sheets, 5 Designs

Synopsis

Photographer, blogger, artist, and stylist Erin Gleeson combines food, flowers, watercolors, and vintage tableware to evoke the ease and festivity of her cabin in the Northern California woods. Inspired by her cookbook, The Forest Feast, this tear-off pad contains 40 paper placemats (eight each of five different designs). The placemats are perfect for brunches or picnics, for serving cheese or fruit, or for everyday dining. Designed in five different color schemes (indigo, pink, red, teal, and lime), the placemats can be mixed and matched eclectically or used to create a coordinated tablescape.

Customer Reviews

I have purchased several "tablets" of decorative placemats and these are my very favorite. What's not to like about eating from a variety of vintage china settings every day? They are the BEST!

These are great!... I am a realtor and bought these to use as staging in open houses. But I found that they actually work great as placemats as well. All of the different mats look close to real. Also a great decorative idea. I was very impressed with the weight of the paper. It is of a heavy weight.

These are made of very nice paper and come bound so they are easy to store. Each placemat has a nice little area at the top that could be used as place cards. With that said, I didn't really like these. After reading all of the reviews, I was so excited to get them, but they are simply not my taste. Part of the image (half of the silverware, and the plate and some of the leaves and flowers) are photos, the rest are painted in--so it's a nice artsy combination if you like that sort of thing. However, I didn't really care for placing my dishes on top of the dish on the placemat, nor my silverware on top of the silverware on the placemat, so the whole combination was a bit uncomfortable to me. I also didn't care much for the china patterns and there are only 4 and these are repeated. If you don't like one or more of them, then you won't like that portion of the placemats. I have no complaints about the quality or the printing, it's just not a set I'd purchase again.

Just like the photo. They are actually even a little bigger but very colorful and a nice presentation. Haven't used them yet but awaiting everyone's approval/disapproval. I like them alot! Thanks.

Each pattern is beautiful! The paper quality is very nice and heavy, so it doesn't crumple or tear easily. It exceeded my expectations! I'm very pleased with this product!

These placemats are so cute. They are the size of the kid learning placemats we got at the store so big enough to put everything on. I got them as a fun way to help my kids (and me, I am a little rusty) learn how to properly set a table. I might have to get more and have them laminated. I don't know yet if they bleed when they get wet, so I am hoping they can make it nicely through dinner.
